In fact Meraden is on the boom and is working for a good place among thriving Kansas towns and means to have it.

Mr. Chas. Scheppele and his bride arrived in Meriden last Saturday morning after quite an extended wedding tour. The happy pair were joined in wedlock at the residence of the bride's parents in Dubuque, Iowa, formerly the home of Mr. Scheppele. The bride's maiden name was Georgie Buhler. Her father is a large contractor and builder of Dubuque.-The newly married pair have gone to housekeeping in the McLucas dwelllully. The house has been handsomely fitted up, anp furnished in every way fitting to receive a bride. The ADVOCATE extends its best congratulations to the bride and groom.

Dix.—The young couple have taken up their residence about two miles from town on their farm in a cosy dwelling that has recently been erected by Mr. Dix for the reception of his bride. The affair was intended to be kept a secret, but it leaked out, and Wednesday evening the friends of the newly married pair marched out to their residence and gave them a rousing charivari which was taken in good part and those who participated were rewarded by the distribution by the groom of a box of fine cigars as an evidence of appreciation of the compliment paid him and his bride. The ADVOCATE WAS not there, but offers its hearty congratulations.

Last Saturday's Storm.

Heavy rains have been no exception this year, but last Saturday's deluge, for it was nothing else, captured the whole bakery. Streams ran out of their banks, bridges were swept away miles of railroad track washed out and general destruction the rule. Everywhere the avalanche of water poured its restless torrents upon the earth. As usual it played old Harry with the side walks of Meriden furnished by nature, and those who were caught down town enjoyed a desperate struggle with the soft, rich loam of Meriden soil, in reaching their homes. The rain paid its usual attention to the cellars in town, filling them in good shape. If we were to have frequent recurrences of this sort of thing it will be well to get a supply of boots to facilitate the navigation of our streets on such occasions.

A Sad Case of Drowning.

Dr. Austin M. Baker, his wife and his mother-in-law Mrs. J. F. Shephard were drowned near Valley Falls last Saturday in the high water caused by the terrible rain storm that visited that section of country. The party started from the Falls in the evening to drive to the home of Mrs. Baker's parents accompanied by the latter and their little eleven year old son. They were driving over a narrow roadway toward a house to seek shelter from the flood when the road caved in and they were thrown into deep water. Mr. Shephard who had been dragged out of the wagon by holding on to the lines shouted for the rest of the party to remain in the wagon, but for some reason or other they disobeyed these instructions and were swept away in the flood,-all but the little boy who Mr. Shephard succeeded in rescuing. The affair was a most sad one and cast a gloom over that part of the country where it occured. Dr. Baker was a highly respected citizen of Arrington where he resided with his wife. The bodies were recovered and taken to Arrington for interrment. A subscription fund was started for the sufferers who were in poor circumstances and freely responded to by the generous citizens of the Falls, over a hundred dollars being raised in a short time.
